Black Folks' Guide to Making Big Money in America

George Trower-Subira

AVAILABLE THROUGH QUEST

Citing the economic losses Blacks have suffered in the 1970s, George Trower-Subira states, "We didn't struggle in the '60s to remain poor and powerless, but we didn't develop a plan for making money, either, so as to prevent that very thing from happening. Of course, there were people running around shouting 'Green Power' even in those days, but they didn't have a plan to offer the masses."

This volume, Black Folks' Guide to Making Big Money in America, is a serious effort to tell the Black worker why he or she isn't making much financial progress. But it also explains what he needs to do to make a "fortune." "In the decade of the '80s, Blacks must begin to see a connection between education and making money—and the power to make social and political changes. Otherwise, it's over!"

Mr. Trower-Subira has amassed a great body of facts, simple guidelines, charts, and systems to help in planning a financial goal, implementing the plan, and "making it." Every hardworking man and woman can benefit from a study of this book.
